

Dear Admission Officers,

It is my pleasure to provide this recommendation for Mr. Sheng Ma. I am a data engineer and I have been working in Cohesity for around one year. Sheng Ma and I are very good friend, also, he was my classmate.

Sheng and I worked closely throughout various projects such as HCI and database. Although these knowledge were new to him, Sheng was able to comprehend them and accomplish tasks in a courteous and timely manner. Moreover, he constantly asked for more work and took the initiative to come up with better solutions in both frontend and backend for projects. Coming from Computer Engineering background, Sheng was evidently thinking logically and could understand task requirement comfortably. He independently completed the frontend coding part and it became one of the features that help our project to win the first prize. Furthermore, Sheng kept up with the goal-achieving attitude. Every time he received a task, he would not only finish it efficiently and effectively, but also ask follow-up questions, for instance, how the task was tied to our end goal. With the qualities that I see in him, he will be an excellent candidate at our institution.

Sheng and I have become friends since then. Every day he would come with a positive attitude and bring a positive energy to the team. Sheng seemed shy at first, but once we got to know each other, his sense of humor and his enthusiasm on photography left a deep impression on us. Although Sheng has grown into a mature, young professional, I would like to see him having a mindset and courage to speak up for himself. Nonetheless, I enjoyed having him on our team and would love to work with him again.

In short, Sheng is a smart, passionate, and knowledgeable professional who will continue to advance and live up to your expectation. If you have any question, please do not hesitate to contact me at fyz@gmail.com
